▶ Mike Greene stands with his kids in front of the woods where Brook, 10, was called to by a stranger last month.

High alert: Teen stalking kids

▶ A third family says girls approached by teen who wanted kids to go into forest area ▶ Girl says she ran away because she was scared

Brook Greene and a friend were playing outside her house in Bellevue Manor when a teenager called out to them from the woods, the 10-year-old girl said on Thursday.

"The guy was at the fence and he was like, 'You, come here,' to me and my friend," said Brook. "And then he yelled at us because we didn't come and then we ran into the house."

Police are investigating two incidents in a housing project in the Caldwell area in the West End. Both involve a teen suspect who's trying to lure girls into the woods. Now that Brook's father knows that, he's taking what happened to Brook more seriously, he said.

"At first, we thought, OK, they're kids," said Mike Greene. "You don't want to just run after someone and grab them, and say 'Hey, what are you doing?' Especially in Caldwell."

Mike Greene and Brook's mother ran after the man, but didn't catch him.

"He was taking off scared," Greene said.

Mike and Brook Greene said the man appeared to be Asian and was about 15- to 18-years-old. Police have described their suspect as a male, Asian or Latin American of the same age.

The family hasn't spoken with police yet.

However, Greene said he has been keeping a careful eye out in the neighbourhood and would like entrances to the woods boarded up.

Staff Sergeant John McGetrick said if anyone is aware of any other similar incidents, police would like them to come forward, adding that often "a totality of facts" can lead to an arrest.

Incidents

Bellevue Manor Park luring incidents:

- May 17, 5:30 p.m. Eight-year-old girl playing in the park. Unknown male tries to lure her into a wooded area with offer of ice cream. Adult interrupts incident, suspect flees.
- April 25, 5 p.m. Eleven-year-old girl lured into woods and is touched inappropriately.
- Police say suspect is Latin American or Asian, mid to late teens, five-foot-five to five-foot-seven, medium build, with dark black hair.
- Anyone with information should call police at 613-236-1222, ext. 5944 or Crime Stoppers at 613-233-8477 (TIPS).

Watson going to China

Mayor Jim Watson announced Thursday he is heading to China in June on a mission to promote Ottawa's tourism assets to the people of Beijing.

Invited by Beijing Mayor Guo Jinlong, Watson will visit the Beijing International Tourism Festival from June 15 to 19 with a team of Ottawa tourism groups such as the Ottawa Gatineau Hotel Association.

Watson told the association last night that even with a healthy tourism industry, Ottawa cannot afford to stand still.

"Standing still means falling behind," he said.

The mayor said that Chinese travellers injected $260.6 million into the Canadian economy in 2009 and Canada's Approved Destination status will boost the number of Chinese visitors who come here.

"We need to get our share of this huge new market that is naturally attracted to Canada," said Watson. JOE LOFARO

Blunt new posters aim to end sexual assault

Message hits home for men ages 18 to 24, campaign organizers say

The girl in the pink dress holds a mickey of booze in her left hand as she stumbles out of her high heels toward a car — with a young man holding her up.

It's young men the poster is targeting with its message: "Just because you help her home … doesn't mean you get to help yourself."

The Ottawa Police Service and several community organizations unveiled the posters at city hall Thursday before a conference on sexual violence, youth and drinking

"With this campaign we're trying to focus on the men who are potentially out there victimizing women with sexual assault," said Deputy Chief Charles Bordeleau.

"It's an aggressive poster campaign where the bar owners in the market are participating, sending a strong message to you men that we don't want them to be that young guy."
DEPUTY POLICE CHIEF CHARLES BORDELEAU

Steve Monuk, co-chair of the Byward Market BIA safety and security committee, said they will be displayed, mostly in the men's washrooms, in the York Entertainment chain of bars.

Anti-war activists decry Lansdowne defence fair

Raging Grannies argue that the event's promoters are in violation of one of the Nuremberg Principles established after the Second World War

Anti-war advocates the Raging Grannies picketed outside the Air Force Mess Thursday as the Canadian Association of Defence and Security Industries (CADSI) held a luncheon leading up to its annual defence and security trade show, CANSEC.

"We shouldn't be using taxpayers' money to support war," said Shannon Lee Mannion of the Raging Grannies, who is upset that the fair will be held at Lansdowne Park on June 1.

"We live in a democracy, and people get to express their opinions. Young men and women have fought down through the ages to defend that right to free speech. We respect their opinions, we just don't share them."

Over 9,000 people, including government officials, and members of various defence and security agencies, are expected to attend CANSEC 2011, which will feature about 220 firms and 150,000 square feet of indoor and outdoor exhibition space for equipment and security technology.

Tim Page, president of CADSI, said weapons are only a small part of the showcase and the Raging Grannies protest CANSEC every year. Firms at the show are also involved in other businesses, such as textiles, sensory equipment and chemical detection, he said.

Severed gas line shuts Woodroffe

JESSICA SMITH/METRO

▶ Woodroffe Avenue on Thursday.

The Woodroffe Avenue water main proved once again to be Ottawa's infrastructure problem child Thursday as workers, attempting to fix the broken pipe, accidentally severed a natural gas line.

Severing the four-inch-diameter gas line meant the road was closed between Slack Road and Huntclub Road for close to 90 minutes as Enbridge workers scrambled to contain the leak and Ottawa fire services kept a watchful eye, monitoring air quality and being on hand with equipment to stabilize trenches for workers just in case.

The water main failed in February, causing a large sinkhole, and the subsequent repairs prompted the city to issue an outdoor water ban for south-end residents as supply capacity has been reduced.

The city has said work on the water main is proceeding ahead of schedule and the main should be ready by the end of July.

STARVATION DEATH

Animal cruelty alleged

An Ottawa woman has been charged with cruelty after she allegedly abandoned a nine-month-old dog without food or water until it died of starvation, the Ottawa Humane Society said Thursday.

The Ottawa Humane Society Emergency Animal Protection Services received a call on April 20 from Ottawa Community Housing and later obtained a search warrant for a home on Heatherington Avenue. Upon arrival, the team found the decomposing body of a black and white pointer-type dog.

Society spokesperson Mandy Chepeka said the woman faces a maximum fine of $60,000 and/or two years in jail, as well as the possibility of up to a lifetime ban on owning animals.

The woman will appear in court on June 9.

2 witnesses sought in theft

CRIME. Police are asking two witnesses to an armed robbery and carjacking to come forward.

At about 10:15 p.m. on May 9, a woman was using a drive-through ATM in the 700 block of Eagleson Road when she was approached by a man armed with a knife. The man took her cash and drove away in her vehicle.

The victim, 20, went to a nearby pizza restaurant to seek help. Two unknown men entered the restaurant and told an employee that they had seen the car leaving.

The witnesses can contact Det. Jim O'Connell-Smith of the Robbery Section at 613-236-1222 ext. 5193.

Body found in river identified

Police have identified the body of a man found in the Ottawa River May 12th as Michael Pineau.

Pineau, 19, went missing March 15th after running away from a house party on Chesterton Drive in a distraught state.

In a statement released through police, Pineau's parents, John and Elizabeth, said the family is "devastated."

"We have lost an amazing, talented, extremely generous and intelligent son, brother, grandson, nephew and cousin. Mike was truly the salt of the Earth. We have had overwhelming support from our family and friends in Mattawa, Ottawa, North Bay and across the country. The Ottawa Police have been helpful and knowledgeable throughout this most difficult time," the statement reads.

After he disappeared Pineau's roommates and family and friends organized a search party and canvassed vast areas of Ottawa with posters.

The night Pineau ran off, he had been joking around outside with a roommate and the pair slipped and fell, she said. Michael apparently had a crush on the roommate and was upset, his mother told Metro shortly after his disappearance. Pineau thought his friends were angry, but they were only concerned, she told Metro.

A memorial service for Pineau will be held in Mattawa in June, the statement said.

"Our thoughts and prayers are with the families of the other missing persons," the Pineau's added.

Rookie MPs bask in camaraderie as they tour Parliament Buildings

They were warned about the perils of life in Parliament — the stress on their marriages, the strain on their health, the long hours, the tricky business of hiring the right staff.

But rookie MPs attending their freshman orientation session Thursday also got a glimpse of the camaraderie life on the benches breeds.

"In that room, no one had the logo Conservative, or Green or Liberal or what not, so it's just interesting to be with a great bunch of people for the 41st Parliament," said Dan Albas, a B.C. Tory.

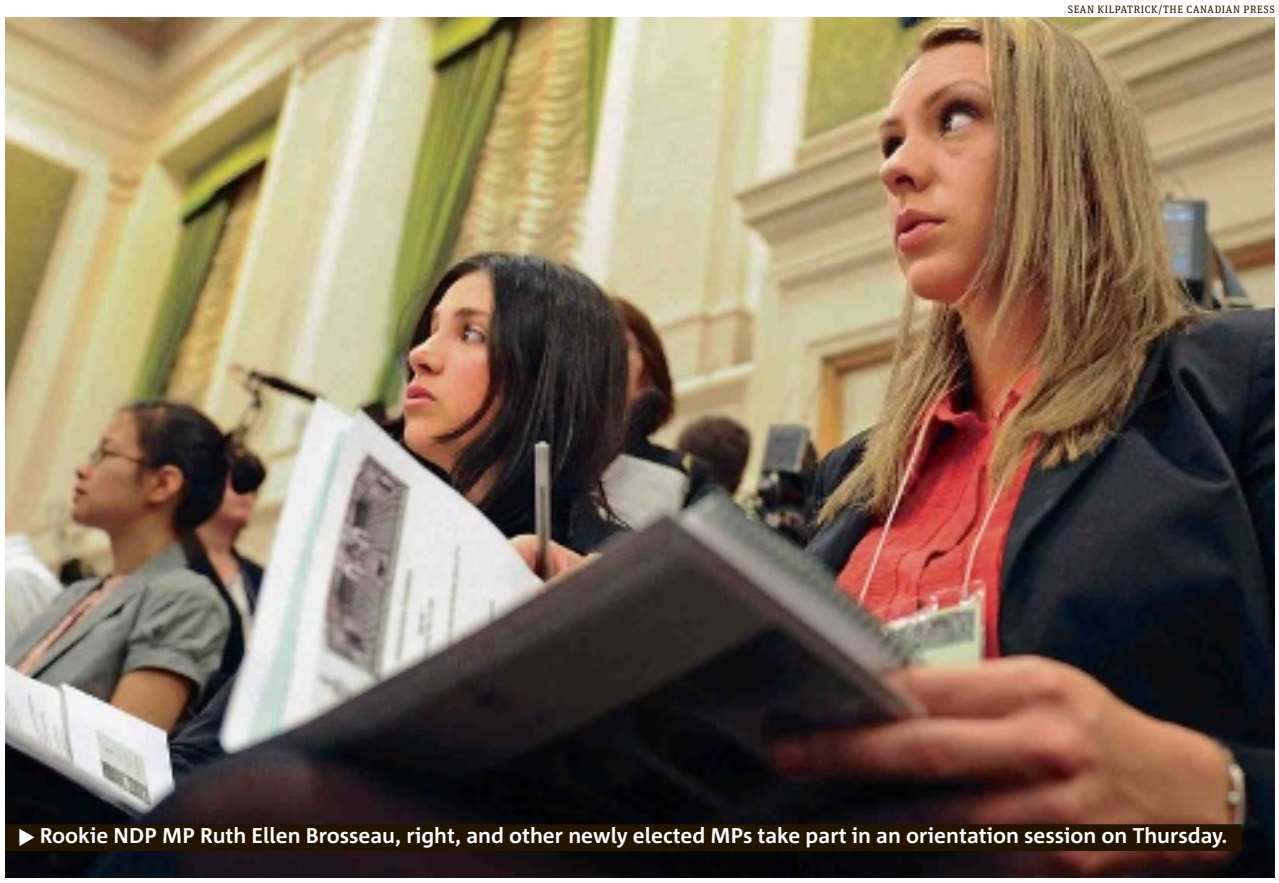

"I think that the part that struck me the most is that we're all there to work together and find those common lines, because we have to work for the people of Canada and make sure their priorities are coming first and I think that's something all of us want to contribute."

"Ever since I ran for class president in Grade 6, it has been something that I've been working towards."
DAN HARRIS, FRESHMAN NDP MEMBER FOR SCARBOROUGH SOUTHWEST

No matter what the age, the new parliamentarians seemed a little giddy and just slightly lost.

But for name tags they were given to wear, they could have easily been mistaken for confused tourists wandering the Parliament Buildings.

Bob Rae offers to be Liberals' interim leader

Bob Rae is shelving his long-term leadership ambitions to become interim leader of the devastated federal Liberal party.

The Toronto MP wrote his caucus colleagues Thursday to advise he's willing to let his name stand for the position of interim leader.

And he acknowledged that means he'll have to give up thoughts of one day running to become the permanent successor to Michael Ignatieff, who resigned after leading the party to a historic defeat in the May 2 election.

"I shall abide by any rules about the interim leadership, agreed to by the caucus and by the (the party's) board (of directors)," he says in his letter.

"I have made it a watchword of my time in public life to practise the politics of unity and principled compromise. I shall continue to do so."

The party's directors have the authority to appoint an interim leader, based on the recommendation of the parliamentary caucus — which appears to hugely favour Rae.

The board said last week the interim leader must be bilingual and must promise not to seek the permanent leadership or engage in discussions about a possible merger with the New Democrats.

‘Great Firewall’ designer pelted

Egg and shoes thrown at Chinese online censor

Chinese police were seeking the man who allegedly threw an egg and shoes yesterday at the computer scientist famous for designing China’s Great Firewall of web controls.

The attack — if true — is a particularly bold one for China and underscores how strongly people feel about the country’s strict Internet censorship.

A Twitter user posting under the name “hanunyi” claimed that one of the shoes struck computer expert Fang Binxing while he was visiting Wuhan University in Hubei province.

Fang reviled

Fang Binxing has felt the ire of the online community before. When he launched his microblog in December, it was taken down within hours after anonymous posters peppered it with hundreds of caustic or sarcastic comments.

Fang, president of Beijing University of Posts and Telecommunications, is popularly known as the “father of the Great Firewall” and is reviled by many Chinese web users.

An officer at the Luojiashan Public Security Bureau confirmed police were sent to the university to investigate a shoe-throwing incident that targeted Fang. The officer, who refused to give his name, said Fang was on his way to the airport.

Hanunyi posted a live account of the alleged shoe toss on his Twitter page, including photos of the door to the lecture hall where it happened, a hand clutching an egg in preparation and bare feet after he fled.

What's in a name? A family for one man

Man finds true identity, reunited with family 66 years after separation from mother in WWII ◐ Man meets nephew in first visit to Germany since war

Peter Jaunzemis went by the name George for more than six decades, but always wondered whether the Latvian refugee who brought him to New Zealand and raised him there was really his mother.

"She didn't act like a mother," Jaunzemis, 69, said Thursday of the woman, Anna Jaunzemis. "She was cold, she never took me in her arms and never referred to me as her son."

Jaunzemis recently discovered his true identity through the help of the International Tracing Service (ITS) in the central German town of Bad Arolsen.

For more than a decade, Jaunzemis sought to trace his Latvian family roots. He found nothing, not even a birth certificate.

"I was getting nowhere, trying every variant I could think of, but it felt like I was turning in circles," Jaunzemis said.

Finally, a friend who was tracing her own family history suggested he turn to the ITS, which holds troves of Second World War–era documents, including refugee lists, registers from displaced persons, or DP camps, and missing-persons requests filed with the International Committee of the Red Cross.

"I am at peace with myself now. Before I felt that I was something that had dropped out of the sky."
PETER JAUNZEMIS

Margret Schlenke, who heads the ITS department for missing persons, immediately found a file for Jaunzemis. But it also held another name, Peter van de Velde — a boy with the same birth date as Jaunzemis who had been removed from his mother at a DP camp in Belgium in June 1945.

The file, stuffed with more than 150 tattered, yellowing pages, contained old photos and letters from Jaunzemis' natural mother, Gertrud van de Velde, who for years sought for her son. She died in Brussels in 2009, months before he first wrote to the ITS.

Nevertheless Jaunzemis, who now goes by Peter, said he is relieved to finally know who he is and that he has family.

Spy vs. spy: Israel-Russia edition

An Israeli military attaché to Moscow who was expelled from Russia last week was carrying secret information when he was detained, Russia's Foreign Ministry said.

Vadim Leiderman was apprehended in Moscow on May 12, caught red-handed receiving classified information from a Russian citizen, the statement said. Leiderman was declared persona non grata and given 48 hours to leave the country, which he did.

Israel's military rejected allegations that Leiderman was a spy, saying in a statement the officer was debriefed after he returned.

Gad Shimron, an intelligence expert and former field operative for the Mossad, told Israel's Channel 10 TV that based on the information he knows the odds of Leiderman being a spy are "extremely small."

Intelligence officer sells secret docs to undercover

A 22-year-old U.S. navy sailor pleaded guilty Thursday to four counts of attempted espionage for trying to sell classified documents to someone he believed was a Chinese intelligence officer.

Petty Officer 2nd Class Bryan Minkyu Martin of Mexico, New York, faces a maximum sentence of life in prison.

At a court martial in Norfolk, Martin said Thursday that he accepted $11,500 from an undercover FBI agent known to him only as "Mr. Lee" in exchange for information, documents, photographs and images that were classified as secret or top secret. The documents involved naval operations and intelligence assessments related to military operations in Afghanistan and Iraq. Authorities say the documents were delivered to the agent in November and December.

Martin is an intelligence specialist who was stationed at Fort Bragg in North Carolina at the time, preparing for a deployment to Afghanistan. He worked at the base's Joint Special Operations Command and downloaded and printed documents from his desktop computer while at work, sometimes walking out with them folded up in his pants pocket.

He said he wanted to sell the documents to the Chinese because he believed they would pay the most for them. Prosecutors declined to say how Martin made the initial contact that ultimately got him in touch with the undercover agent.

Martin said he had spoken with the undercover agent by telephone, but had never seen him until their first meeting in a hotel lobby, saying he identified "Mr. Lee" because he was reading a Chinese newspaper.

The undercover agent never showed any identification to prove he worked for the Chinese government and Martin said he was initially cautious that he might not be legitimate.

Background

Martin also pleaded guilty to seven charges levied against him for mishandling classified documents.

1. He earned $500 at the first meeting for verbally sharing classified information he gleaned while training at the Defence Intelligence Agency and at Fort Bragg, which he was stationed at beginning in September of 2010.
2. Martin said he had three other meetings with the undercover agent at various hotels in Spring Lake, North Carolina.
3. At each of those subsequent meetings, he signed receipts for payment of the documents.
4. His sentencing hearing is scheduled to last through Friday.

Not-so-Secret Service on Twitter

U.S. spy agency apologizes for employee's tweet
Post quickly taken down, but re-tweets keep it alive

The U.S. Secret Service should consider reverting to code.

The information-gathering organization decided to open a Twitter account this month, and while it isn't regaling us with tales of terror raids and false moustaches, the organization is letting us know it isn't fans of Fox News — at least one employee isn't.

"(H)ad to monitor Fox for a story. Can't. Deal. With. The. Blathering," a tweet from @SecretService, the service's official account read Thursday.

The post was quickly taken down, but as the Secret Service probably knows, that which is posted on the World Wide Web rarely vanishes for good. Re-tweets of the offending message appeared on Twitter and others offered screen grabs.

And then there were the conspiracy theories:

"Secret Service tweet is now gone. Rogue agent? Or hackers? Would be sad if Secret Service was no more secure than Lindsay Lohan," tweeted TIME writer Amy Sullivan, who also retweeted the original post.

The Secret Service has since apologized. It also said the vanishing tweet had been posted by an employee with access to the service's account who mistakenly believed they were on their personal account.

But why are the Secret Service's Twitter novices watching Fox?

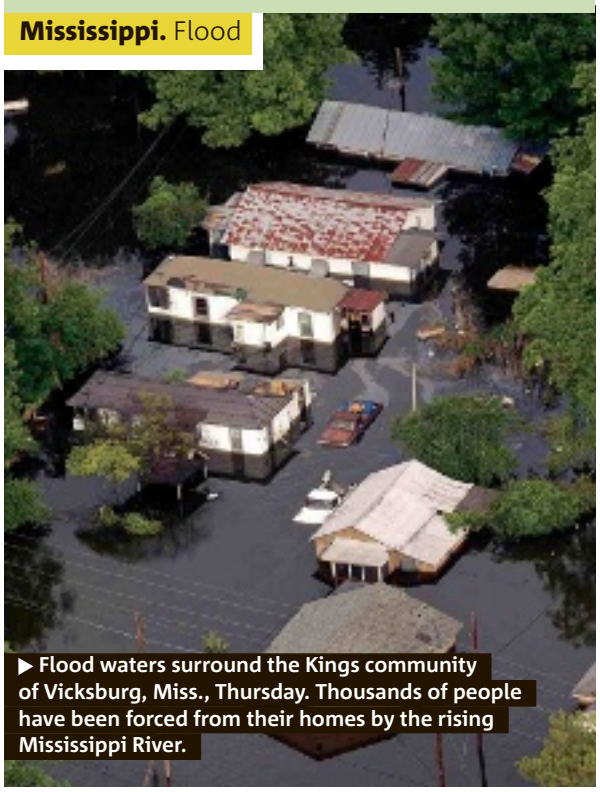

"Our public affairs employees monitor all the news channels throughout the day for stories that affect the Secret Service," Special Agent in Charge Edwin M. Donovan told ABC News.

Report blames company for U.S. coal mine blast

An independent investigation concludes the West Virginia coal mine explosion that killed 29 men last year was the result of safety failings by owner Massey Energy Co. and rejects the company's argument that a sudden gas buildup caused the blast.

Irish crowds wowed by Queen

A beaming Queen Elizabeth II received a five-minute standing ovation from an adoring Dublin crowd Thursday evening after hosting a British and Irish fashion show and musical performances on her final night in the Irish capital.

It was the first time the Irish public had gotten a chance to express their views about her landmark four-day state visit — the first of a British monarch to the Republic of Ireland. 2,000 guests at the Convention Centre Dublin.

The upbeat mood from 2,000 guests at the Convention Centre Dublin reflected a positive response to the queen's attempt to put the tense relations between the two nations in the past.

God declares your responsibility to warn all peoples under your authority.

John 15:13 Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

Ezekiel 33:6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

NO MAN KNOWS THE DAY OR THE HOUR?

Daniel 12:4 But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased. [At the end of time, Man will know!]

The Bible declares that "No Man Knows" is describing the unsaved condition of mankind. If you are saved then we may know all things spiritually discerned in God's Word.

1Cor 2:10-19 But God hath revealed them [true gospel] unto us [true believers] by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things[true gospel] , yea, the deep things[true gospel] of God. 12 Now we [true believers] have received, -- the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things [true gospel] that are freely given to us [true believers] of God. 14 But the natural man receiveth not the things[true gospel] -- for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them [=No unsaved man knows] because they are spiritually discerned. 19-- we have the mind of Christ.

Noah knew when the flood would occur, Abraham was told of the destruction of Sodom, In fact, Amos 3:7 shows, God required Himself to declare every judgment before it occurred

Amos 3:7 Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets.

HAROLD CAMPING A PROPHET?

In Camping's book1994? he discovered an important end date for this world. However, because God had not finished revealing all the truths of the timeline in the Bible, Mr. Camping misunderstood the significance of that end date against the language in Matthew 24:22 "Except those days be shortened there should no flesh be saved ". This language led him to believe God was speaking of the end of the world. The only correction to Mr. Camping's work in the book 1994? is that this language "those days be shortened" was pointing to the all important end of the first half of The Great Tribulation. The significance is; The first half was a period when virtually no one was being saved. It wasn't until the second half of The Great Tribulation (Which we are at the end of now) when God started the ingathering that He describes as "The latter rain" where "A great multitude that no man can number" shall be saved.

Mr. Camping's work remains viable today because this crucial milestone helps us know for certain when the second part of The Great Tribulation began.

Critics ignore the "?" in the title and the fact that Mr. Camping was quite clear in his book that 2011 was an alternative year for the end of the world.

Through the efforts of thousands of critical listeners, all doubt has been removed regarding the faithfulness of Harold Camping's study of "God's Time line of History"

Using The Bible's definition of "Prophet" as one who brings the truth of God's word then Harold Camping and those who have validated his work are the real deal.

CHRIST DID KNOW?

Mark 13:32 But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the son, but the Father.
Notice that Mark 13:32 does not say "Christ" does not know. It is easily proved that the language "the son" cannot be pointing to Christ as follows:

The original Greek did not use capital letters in the word "son".

1Cor2: The Spirit of God knows all things.

Col 2:9 For in him [Christ] dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily.

To say "Christ does not know all things" is to say Christ did not have the Spirit of God in him. This is blasphemy against the Holy Spirit. Who else could "the son" be pointing to? Satan is called "The son of perdition" "The angels in heaven" is pointing to "The fallen angels" which were cast out heaven when Christ went to the cross. Rev 12

A multitude of faithful Bible students, that no man can number, agree:

The end of this world, beginning on MAY 21 2011, is established by God's Word The Holy Bible and God will shortly bring it to pass.

A MESSAGE OF HOPE:

The date of judgment has been set by God, is declared in "The Holy Bible" and is being understood by a great multitude that no man can number. Our heartfelt prayer is that all readers take earnest heed of this warning and "Cry out to God for mercy" while you "Search" for truth on your own. Bin Laden's Arab Spring

Al-Qaida leader commends protests in taped message Recording seen as attempt to stake a claim in protests led mainly by frustrated youth

GETTY IMAGES

▶ In a recording released by the al-Qaida media arm, as-Sahab, Osama bin Laden addresses "the Muslim nation" and attempts to cast a role for the terror group in the changes sweeping the Arab world.

In a recording made shortly before his death, Osama bin Laden praised the mass protests that have toppled and shaken longtime rulers across the Arab world while trying to cast a role for al-Qaida.

Bin Laden's message, released on militant websites Thursday, is an attempt by the terror leader to remain relevant after sweeping changes in which al-Qaida played almost no role.

"The winds of change will spread through the entire Islamic world, God willing," bin Laden said.

He proclaimed it a "religious obligation" to form a council that would provide guidance for all Muslims — apparently a way for al-Qaida to play a role in the protests' future.

While not mentioning al-Qaida by name, he advised people struggling against their governments to remember "those who advised early on the necessity of uprooting these oppressive regimes" — a clear reference to the militant group.

Though both bin Laden and the West have generally supported protest movements in the Middle East, their goals differ. The West hopes the protests will bring democratic reforms. Bin Laden and his followers hoped they would lead to governments based on strict interpretation of Islamic law.

Bin Laden was killed by U.S. Navy SEALs May 2.

IT'S JUST NOT CRICKET

Matchup pulls out of Abbottabad

The city where Osama bin Laden was discovered and killed has been removed as the venue for a one-day international match between Pakistan's second-string cricket team and Afghanistan.

The Pakistan Cricket Board said Thursday that Abbottabad has been replaced by Islamabad, which will host the match on Wednesday.

The PCB didn't give a reason for the switch.

Afghanistan will be the first foreign cricket team to tour Pakistan since gunmen killed six police officials and a van driver during an attack on a Sri Lankan team bus at Lahore in March 2009.

Since then, Pakistan has hosted "home" series against international teams in United Arab Emirates, and also played "home" test matches against Australia in England last year.

Print editions an old story? E-books outsell on Amazon

Kindle now cheaper than ever and shows ads in standby mode ◐ Print sales surpassed in just four years

Amazon.com says it's selling more electronic books than printed books, less than four years after it started selling e-books.

Since April 1, Amazon.com Inc. says it has sold 105 e-books for every 100 printed books, including printed books for which there is no electronic edition.

The comparison excludes free e-books.

Printed books include both hardcover and paperback books. Amazon said in July that e-book sales had outstripped hardcover sales.

Amazon also says the latest and cheapest version of its Kindle e-book reading device is the bestseller of the line, five weeks after it was introduced. It costs $114, and shows ads in standby mode.

High prices mere nuisance for U.S. rich: Report

Rising gas prices are driving a wider wedge between the wealthy and everybody else in the United States.

The rich are back to pre-recession-style splurging: Saks Fifth Avenue and Nordstrom customers are treating themselves to luxury items like $5,000 Hermès handbags and $700 Jimmy Choo shoes, and they're paying full price.

At Target and Walmart, shoppers are concentrating on groceries and skipping even little luxuries. BJ's Wholesale Corp. said Wednesday that its customers are buying more hamburger and chicken and less steak, and smaller packs to save money.

"The average shopper isn't in the game, except for necessities," said Faith Hope Consolo, chairman of retail leasing and marketing at Prudential Douglas Elliman.

At the same time, among the rich, "Luxury products are selling like bread."

J.C. Penney, Wal-Mart and home improvement retailer Lowe's Cos. all said they're noticing their customers are consolidating shopping trips to save money on gas as the average price hovers near $4 a gallon.

More than a half-dozen corporate earnings reports this week show that for the affluent, rising prices are merely a nuisance. For others, they can mean scrimping to put food on the table.

The wealthy were the first to start spending again after the recession.

Middle-class Americans' spending started picking up late last year. But the retail earnings results show that rising prices for gas and food have started to erode spending power.

German insurer admits to rewarding with orgy

Carney's pessimistic view shown

Economist's inadvertent email reveals Bank of Canada governor doesn't think the financial crisis is over

Bank of Canada Governor Mark Carney may be more pessimistic about the prospects for recovery in the U.S. and Europe than he lets on in public.

A glimpse of the central banker's gloomier view was offered in an email to clients from CIBC chief economist Avery Shenfeld after Carney gave a private assessment at a Toronto dinner Wednesday night.

The comments were supposed to be off the record, but Shenfeld admitted in a later email that he had been mistaken about the matter and asked clients to ignore his earlier comments.

According to Shenfeld's note, Carney said the global financial crisis is not over, painting a bleaker picture of the recovery in developed countries.

SEAN KILPATRICK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Mark Carney

Even in Canada, which he said was in a solid position, it is too early to celebrate about how well the country emerged from recession, saying a true perspective might not be known until five years down the road.

But the most stark comments were reserved for the United States, which remains in political gridlock over how to deal with high deficits and mounting accumulated debt.

Carney told guests at a fundraiser for the United Jewish Appeal that he doesn't see the U.S. dealing with its fiscal problems until after 2012, after presidential and Congressional elections have been held.

SPEAKING OF THE APOCALYPSE ...

THE METRO LIST

ANDREW WALLACE
METRO

1 End days. According to Harold Camping, the head of the Christian radio network Family Stations Inc., the world will end Saturday. Apparently, an earthquake will shake the Earth and the true believers will be swept up to heaven, while the rest of us are left behind to bear witness to the destruction of all human life. From Camping: "We know without any shadow of a doubt it is going to happen."

Uh, OK?

2 Freedom of expression. Tyler, the Creator, the frontman for Odd Future and one of hip hop's weirdest up-and-comers, recently received the ire of one-half of Tegan and Sara for his misogynistic and homophobic lyrical content. The conversation took to the Twitterverse and somehow the issue morphed into a discourse on free speech. This, of course, isn't a free speech issue — it's an idiot-with-a-platform issue.

"Apparently, an earthquake will shake the Earth and the true believers will be swept up to heaven, while the rest of us are left behind to bear witness to the destruction ..."

3 Librarians. The profession is under threat in Ontario and elsewhere. In a world where e-books are booming and cellphones provide instant access to more information than anybody could ever need, an old-time curator of ink-and-paper products seems both obsolete and irrelevant. But librarians are still a wonderful resource. A library reconceived for the information economy could be more valuable than ever, and a librarian calibrated to meet today's information challenges could be its greatest asset.

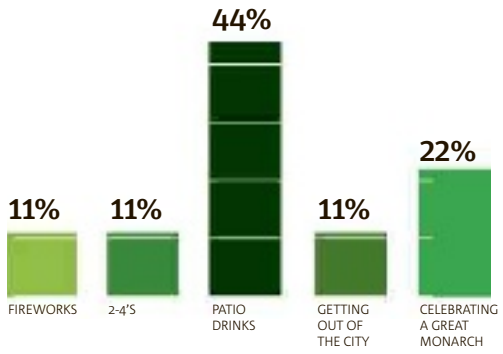

4 The Biebs. This week Forbes announced that Justin Bieber, the boy wonder from Stratford, Ont., is officially the third most influential celebrity in the world. He has made teen girls swoon, sold out a world tour and starred in a top-grossing film, not to mention selling his footwear and hair on eBay for $5,500 and $40,558, respectively. Apparently, that's the stuff influence is made of. Speaking of the Apocalypse …

5 James Frey. The famous author (and noted liar) is on tour in Canada to promote his new book, The Final Testament Of The Holy Bible. On Wednesday, he was in Toronto to discuss the work with Indigo "chief book lover" Heather Reisman, which will surely be a boon for sales. In today's world, liars remain unpunished — instead, they seem to be roundly rewarded.

6 The Gos. It looks like Canadian kid Ryan Gosling is going to try his hand at directing. Word is The Notebook heartthrob will star in his own directorial debut, a remake of the 1980s musical The Idolmaker. Bieber may be Canada's most influential celebrity icon, but the Gos is the Canadian Renaissance man. He acts, he produces, he sings and now he is going to direct. Also, like Ferris Bueller, he seems to be a righteous dude.

WHITE ROCK, B.C. Prime Minister Stephen Harper's latest Senate appointments must be called into question. Senators are to be a check on the prime minister, his cabinet and his House of Commons majority. They have the responsibility of providing "sober second thought" from their appointed positions. Appointing defeated candidates to the Senate cannot be considered otherwise than directly conflicting with this responsibility.

Have Harper's purely partisan personal appointees committed to voting as he pleases? Is that not vote buying? Is Harper not again in contempt of Parliament in making such appointments?

Neither abolishing nor electing senators serves the purpose that the chamber was meant to serve when Canada came into being. A process that will enable the Senate to play its designated role that Harper has completely destroyed is to have senators appointed by the Governor General upon the recommendation of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada.

WEIRD NEWS

She may be a little slow on the draw, though

The highest court in Oregon unanimously ruled Thursday that retired bus driver Cynthia Willis can have her medical marijuana and a concealed handgun, too.

The ruling issued in Salem, Ore., upheld previous decisions by the Oregon Court of Appeals and circuit court in finding that a federal law barring criminals and drug addicts from buying firearms does not excuse sheriffs from issuing concealed weapons permits to people who hold medical marijuana cards and otherwise qualify.

"We hold that the Federal Gun Control Act does not pre-empt the state's concealed handgun licensing statute and, therefore, the sheriffs must issue (or renew) the requested licences," Chief Justice Paul De Muniz wrote.

Willis welcomed the ruling.

"I feel like a big girl now," she said. "I feel like a real human being now, not just a source of revenue to the county."

Oregon became one of the first states in the U.S. to authorize people to use marijuana to treat medical conditions when voters approved an initiative in 1998.

Plot synopsis

- At the behest of King George, Barbossa (Geoffrey Rush), a one-time pirate now turned privateer, is searching for the fabled Fountain of Youth. His job is to claim it for England before the Spanish armada gets there. Meanwhile, Captain Jack Sparrow (Depp) is shanghaied to work on board a ship run by the evil Blackbeard (Ian McShane) and Jack's old flame Angelica (Penelope Cruz). They're after the fountain too, but first must fight off manhungry mermaids.

It's time to jump ship

Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides ◐ Mermaids are great, but not much else to write home about

Richard Crouse: Mark, my main question after watching the new Pirates movie is, If this was the first one of the series would we have had a two, three and four? I don't think so. It's a big splashy epic, but lacks the fun and Johnny's joie de vivre of the original. What say you, matey?

Mark Breslin: Richard, I wasn't even a fan of the original. And no franchise should exceed a trilogy unless the words "godfather" or "cheerleaders" are in the title. An appreciation of this movie is contingent upon how you feel about Johnny Depp and how much swordplay you can handle. I adore Depp's brilliant characterization in the series, but really, the tricks are starting to show their age. And I didn't like swashbuckling even when Douglas Fairbanks did it in 1932. Still, I thought this edition of Pirates was the best since the original, whatever that means.

RC: I don't think this one has the spark of the others. It's not as funny, Depp seems like he's gone back to the Captain Jack treasure chest one too many times and the action scenes, despite the 3-D, don't fly off the screen the way they have in the past. I liked the mermaids and think their attack sequence is the most exciting thing in the movie, but I may be wrong simply because the movie is so dark I may have missed something.

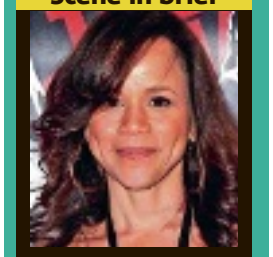

MB: Oh, those mermaids! Who knew they spoke in a Scandinavian accent? Yes, they are the most exciting thing in the movie, although I did enjoy Ian MacShane's villainy. But despite the fountain of youth plot device, these Pirates are getting old. And you're right about how dark the film is: I was straining to make out which pirate was which. Quick clue: Depp is the Pirate Who's Had A Bit Of Work Done.

RC: Ha! Perhaps playing the same character four times in eight years is too much for Depp, or perhaps the limitations of Captain Jack are becoming apparent but he's not as entertaining as before. Not that director Rob Marshall helps him. The action sequences are as well choreographed as you might expect from the man who made Chicago and Nine, but they are also as exciting as you would expect from a man who specializes in making musicals.

MB: I see what you're getting at. For the next instalment, make it a musical complete with a chorus line of mermaids!

Cooper loves his wolfpack

Hangover star says bond with his co-stars is the secret ingredient for movie's success Sequel goes to darker places than original film did

STEVE GOW
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

▶ Bradley Cooper stars in The Hangover, Part II, which opens in theatres next Friday.

Although the antics are amped up in The Hangover: Part II, star Bradley Cooper admits shooting the anticipated comedy was at least easier than the first.

"There's a certain amount of ease in knowing the character — having all this history," said Cooper recently in Toronto. "There was a lot less preparation because the preparation was already (in doing) a movie. That's a hell of a lot of rehearsal time to have another movie under your belt."

With the 2009 surprise hit earning a stunning $467 million US worldwide, there will be a lot of eyes on Part II and the comedy's unfolding plot about a bachelor party gone wrong. This time, Cooper and company travel to Bangkok, Thailand and have to uncover the events that led to a face tattoo, the disappearance of the bride's 16-year-old brother and a mysterious drug-dealing monkey.

"The stakes are so high in this movie. It gets darker and because of that the three of us have to go to places making it believable but you have to deal with these crazy circumstances," Cooper said.

He explained that the movie's secret is in the camaraderie with co-stars Zach Galifianakis and Ed Helms. "It's the reason I would do seven of these movies … it was just really wonderful to see what would come out of that — things that weren't in the script," he said.

For The Hangover: Part II, the writing doesn't end on the page either as Cooper and company have been credited for bringing some of the biggest laughs while improvising during the shoot.

"Comedy has to happen fast," insisted Cooper. "It's like music and especially when the three of us are working, it's nice — you really get in the groove, everybody's in the right gear and it just starts flowing."

Monkey

Bradley Cooper on working with Crystal the monkey.

"The monkey is on Phil's shoulder most of the movie and there's one scene in Bangkok where an elephant is in the background. Do not have a monkey and an elephant walk down the same street in Bangkok because she just dug herself into my shoulder."

The Conspirator
Genre: Historical drama
Director: Robert Redford
Stars: James McAvoy, Robin Wright, Kevin Kline
⊕⊕⊕½
This widely unknown story of an accused female co-conspirator in the assassination of Abraham Lincoln sets the stage for meaty revelations about the Civil War era judicial system. Robin Wright makes every gesture count in her moving portrayal of Mary Surratt in whose boarding house John Wilkes Booth and her son hatched their dastardly plot. Redford draws clear comparisons between individual rights and freedom. Now and Then, in a film that may not be sexy but is absorbing.

Small Town Murder Songs
Genre: Drama
Director: Ed Gass-Donnelly
Stars: Peter Stormare, Jill Hennessey
⊕⊕
The small town in Ed Gass-Donnelly's drama is a rural Ontario Mennonite community; the murder victim is a teenaged girl left by the side of a lake. The songs, meanwhile, are by the Canadian indie rock band, and they're blunt, insistent and ultimately kind of enervating — the ideal accompaniment for a film that's so upfront about its metaphysical agenda. That Peter Stormare is excellent as a cop trying to reconcile his violent past with his duty-bound mentality scarcely matters when the filmmaking is so over-deliberate; if Small Town Murder Songs improves on Gass-Donnelly's first film This Beautiful City, it's not by much.

Kung Fu Panda 2 a 'passion project'

Sequel gets a new director who was excited to step up to the plate ◗ Crew watched kung fu movies in down time

PHIL BROWN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

For anyone with a place in their hearts for kung fu movies and absurdly cute CGI animals, the release of Kung Fu Panda 2 is cause for giddy excitement. The first film was a critical success that also cleaned up at the box office in 2008 and Dreamworks Animation began work on the sequel shortly after it opened in theatres.

Jennifer Yuh Nelson was key member of the creative/design team on the original Kung Fu Panda and was promoted to director for this second outing.

ETHAN MILLER/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Jennifer Yuh Nelson

Speaking to Metro, the filmmaker said she was thrilled to return. "I was always ready to keep going regardless of whether I was the director or not and a lot of the same group stayed on because everyone loved the first movie so much. It was always a passion project for everyone involved and that continued on the sequel."

Creating a CGI animated film on this scale was a huge undertaking for the director, who worked on the project for three years before it was complete.

"We didn't start seeing finish animated sequences until about a year and a half out," admitted Nelson. "It trickles in a little at a time and it's always a shock when you're working with rough black and white storyboards that you're used to and then all of a sudden you see the same scenes in gorgeous colour animation. It's a big jolt for the crew, because you suddenly realize what the final film will look like."

▶ Kung Fu Panda 2 opens in theatres next Friday.

To help break up the tedium during the long production, Nelson said the crew would hold "kung fu movie lunches," watching an endless list of classic titles in the genre to inspire the vast team of animators.

"We'd watch everything from Drunken Master to Kung Fu Hustle," said the director. "That's one of the reasons why these movies aren't parodies. They are a homage to movies that we all really love."

Donald Glover is not the first comedian to make the jump to musician

JORDAN STRAUSS/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Donald Glover is making the crossover from comedian to musician.

PAT HEALY
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

In the early days of film and television, variety was king. Elvis had starring roles, the Rat Pack all sang in their movies and while Jackie Gleason had one of the highest-rated shows on TV as a bus driver with a comically short fuse, he was also releasing albums of romantic mood music.

But as the modern entertainment industry evolved, the public gradually became less accepting of stars who established themselves in one medium, then tried to succeed in another.

But now that reality television is the norm, the world might be more accepting of a comic actor who turns to music, like Donald Glover.

As Troy, the naive and excitable former jock on NBC's Community, he is hilarious, and as a rapper leading Childish Gambino, Glover is more than proficient, rocking a shockingly different persona than viewers may have thought they knew. Here are a few others who crossed over.

Steve Martin

Martin always put goofy songs on his comedy albums but his 2009 album, The Crow: New Songs for the 5-String Banjo, proved he could gracefully transition into a medium that requires players to be well-versed in its tradition. It also helps when Earl Scruggs guests.

Eddie Murphy

After tucking funny songs between comedy tracks on his albums, Murphy decided to take music seriously.

His Rick James-produced anthem, Party All the Time, went to No. 2 on the charts in 1985. Most of his follow-up singing work was met with less enthusiasm. Whatzupwitu, a 1993 duet with Michael Jackson, made listeners wonder the same about Murphy.

Adam Sandler

Sandler mastered the funny-guy-with-the-guitar thing on Saturday Night Live, and some of the songs on his first two comedy albums were absurd enough to make your stomach hurt.

But 1997's What's Your Name? is all songs, and though the musicianship is impressive, the lyrics fly somewhere between funny and sincere, and it falls flat.

BEST TIME OF THE YEAR

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

Today is one of my favourite days of the entire year: the Friday leading into the first summer long weekend.

After a cold winter and a cool, and for many, disastrously wet spring, Canadians are possessed by hopeful optimism about what the next four months will bring.

This means it's also time to load up on some new music.

Ben Harper/Give Till It's Gone (out now): Most of Ben's best records have been released in either the spring or summer, making them great soundtracks for heading camping or laying out on the beach.

His10th studio album, which again features his band, The Relentless 7-fits, that bill.

And yes, that's Jackson Browne making a guest appearance.

Moby/Destroyed (out now): Electronica's favourite bald vegan returns with an album written mostly in hotel rooms in the middle of the night.

A chronic insomniac, Moby captures both the peace and loneliness one feels at 3 in the morning in a strange city.

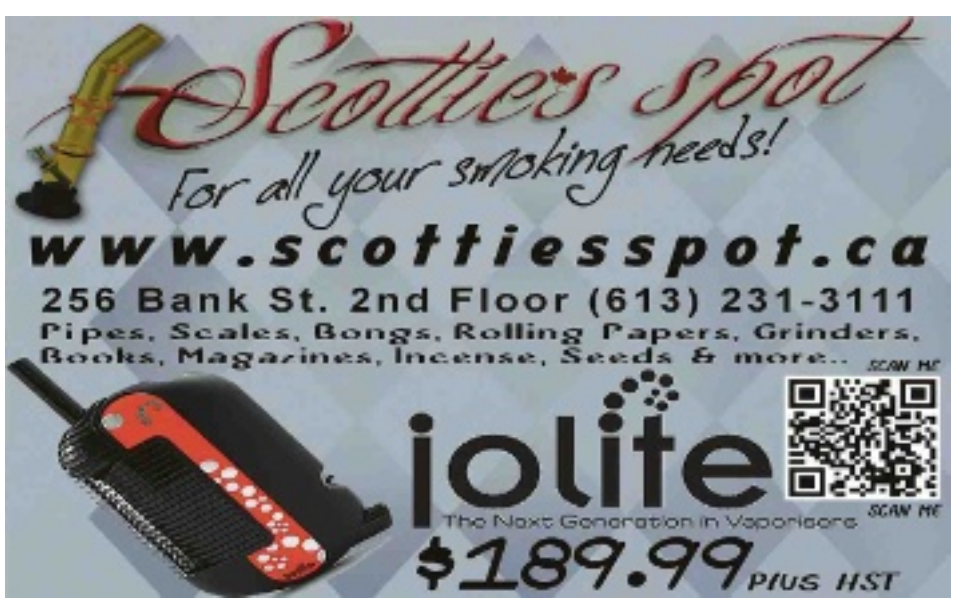

Listening to this album in the daytime doesn't feel quite right, but in the middle of the night, it makes all the sense in the world.

Eddie Vedder/Ukulele Songs (out May 31): When you're one of the most famous singers in the world, you can do whatever you want, including recording a solo album where you play the ukulele.

Rumour has it that Eddie originally planned this project as gift to friends and family, but it turned out so well that it's getting a proper release.

Haunting yet very, very pretty.

Expressing individuality

Live loud and prosper: Gaga sets example with her unique individuality

PAT HEALY
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Rock 'n' roll and its subgenres have always had an outcast component. Because many of the people making this type of music were misfits growing up, they have occasionally found inspiration in singing about their outsider status.

But where The Who sang, "hope I die before I get old," in their 1965 song, My Generation, singers these days are using a more encouraging tone. Lady Gaga puts her personality on parade by saying that she was Born This Way, and Ke$ha lets her freak flag fly by singing We R Who We R.

Uniqueness

- A few of the other songs about being different in all the right ways:
- Rebel Rebel by David Bowie (1974); Written by David Bowie. Sample lyric: "You've got your mother in a whirl/ She's not sure if you're a boy or a girl/Hey babe, your hair's alright"
- The Greatest Love of All by Whitney Houston (1985); Written by: Michael Masser and Linda Creed. Sample lyric: "If I fail, if I succeed/At least I live as I believe/No matter what they take from me/They can't take away my dignity"
- Beautiful by Christina Aguilera (2002); Written by: Linda Perry. Sample lyric: "We are beautiful no matter what they say/Words won't bring us down"

METRO

Pink is currently telling her listeners, "don't you ever, ever feel like you're less than f—in' perfect" while Katy Perry tells hers that they "don't have to feel like a wasted space" in Firework.

But why are all these women singing so many anthems of individuality all of a sudden? Ke$ha says she thinks it's about awareness.

"I wrote We R Who We R because I read about a bunch of teenage boys who killed themselves because they were bullied at school for being 'different,'" she says. "I also wasn't like everyone else in school and was a bit misunderstood. As I've gotten older, I'm happy I wasn't like everyone else. And I wanted these kids to have an anthem that expressed that."

Gaga told Metro that she's seen how the message of Born This Way has moved her younger fans, and when she's talking about their generation it seems to resonate more.

"The new generation is very affected by the lack of equality," she says. "I noticed I had 12- and 13-year-old kids at my shows saying, 'I felt like I didn't belong and couldn't be myself with my family and now there's Born This Way and I have a very easy answer to a very difficult question in my life.'"

Is it time for fans to start worrying about 30 Rock?

Actor Judah Friedlander doesn't think the popular show is done yet

Judah Friedlander says the recent postponement of Season 6 of 30 Rock isn't anything to worry about.

The actor, who plays trucker hat-loving Frank Rossitano on the acclaimed TV comedy series, says NBC was sincere earlier this week when it cited Tina Fey's pregnancy as the reason it's pushing the Season 6 debut to next January.

"Here's what's going on, to my knowledge: Tina Fey is pregnant, not by (co-star) Tracy Morgan and not by me, as far as I can remember," Friedlander, 42, wisecracked in a recent phone interview to promote his standup show at Toronto's Second City on Thursday.

"Now, the thing is, Tina Fey is having a baby soon and I believe she's having the baby around the time we normally start filming for the new season, so our start time is actually being delayed some," he continued.

"We're going to start filming later than normal, so because of that our show has to air later than normal. So to my knowledge that's what that's all about."

Despite critical praise and a slew of awards, 30 Rock has failed to attract blockbuster ratings and its future has frequently been in doubt.

With star Alec Baldwin's contract set to expire in 2012, and with the recent Season 6 postponement, fans have recently been more concerned than usual. The Atlantic Wire also recently published an article questioning the future of the show, opening with the sentence: "Is it time to start worrying about 30 Rock?"

Resume

▶ Judah Friedlander was nominated for an Independent Spirit Award for his supporting role in the 2003 film American Splendor, and has also appeared in TV's Curb Your Enthusiasm and the films Meet the Parents and Wet Hot American Summer.

However, Friedlander is confident they'll be back.

"We are guaranteed for at least one more season and after that we don't know yet," he said.

During the 30 Rock hiatus, Friedlander will be busy with his World Champion standup tour.

The title for Friedlander's tour, as his fans well know, stems from his eccentric public persona as a standup comedian.

With a bushy beard and long locks, thick glasses, and T-shirts and trucker hats emblazoned with his World Champion slogan (sometimes in other languages and even in braille), the jokester boasts onstage and in interviews that he's an undefeated master of martial arts, among many other things.

Weekend TV picks

Fans of Shania Twain will have to put down her recent memoir for long enough to take in the second episode of her new reality series, Why Not. In Friday's episode, the country-pop superstar from Timmins, Ont., visits Canadian cities that remind her of her early career. (OWN)

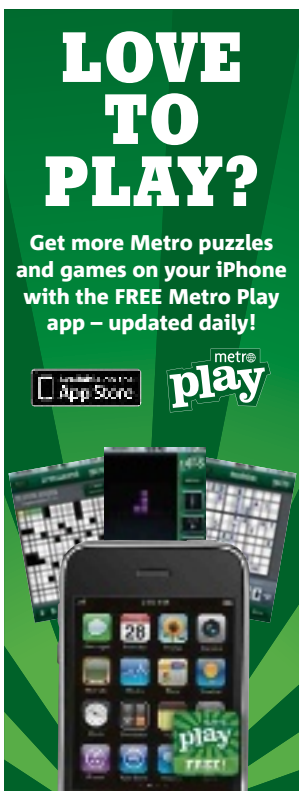

• A tempting smorgasbord of movies are on offer to anyone considering a Saturday evening on the couch. MuchMoreMusic is showing the beloved 2003 comedy Old School, W has the Jennifer Aniston-Vince Vaughn rom-com The Break-Up, while action-oriented viewers will have a tough decision to make between the gritty James Bond flick Casino Royale (Showcase), Black Hawk Down (History) and Kill Bill Vol. 1 (Teletoon)

• Does the fact that The Simpsons has now lasted 22 full seasons make Sunday's finale any less special? Maybe, but classic rock fans will still be pleased to hear the voice of Aerosmith drummer Joey Kramer, who guests in an episode about Ned Flanders dating Edna Krabappel. That will be followed by the finale of Bob's Burgers and the one-hour Family Guy wrap, which completes the cartoon's trilogy of Star Wars spoofs. That is, unless the show's writers plan to move on to the hated prequels. (Fox)

‘I got better at it, smarter at it’

JULIE JACOBSON/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America’s Most Wanted host isn’t done with his national crime fight

You didn’t have to watch America’s Most Wanted to be grateful it’s there. For 23 years it has resided on Fox, rallying its audience into a nationwide crime watch from which everyone benefited.

The viewership was not insignificant: five million viewers, on average, this season.

But other numbers were more impressive. Like the 1,151-and-counting worldwide captures it claimed, a public blessing for which the show, and the community it roused, could take proud credit.

No wonder if the public was shaken by the news on Monday that Fox has cancelled AMW.

Too expensive, Fox entertainment Kevin Reilly explained when making the announcement. Instead of AMW, Fox will air weekly repeats of its prime-time entertainment series. He said there would be just four, two-hour AMW specials next season.

John Walsh had gotten the bad news on Sunday.

Walsh, of course, is the host of AMW and its driving force, a man who led a crime-busting crusade in the aftermath of the abduction and murder of his six-year-old son Adam in 1981.

“I was quite surprised,” he said by phone Monday afternoon from backstage at the Fox’s presentation for advertisers in Manhattan.

He said he told Reilly. “We performed hard for you and we had a good year. We caught more guys than we’ve ever caught.”

23 years ago

- America’s Most Wanted premiered in April 1988 on the fledgling Fox network during a season when other freshman Fox shows included such long-forgotten fare as The New Adventures of Beans Baxter and Second Chance.

But that wasn’t the metric that mattered to the network.

Anyone other than Walsh might have received the news that AMW was being cut down with a measure of relief.

After a quarter-century immersed in the dark side of humanity while keeping up a punishing schedule, he might reasonably welcome a respite now, at age 65.

But he’s not about to slow down.

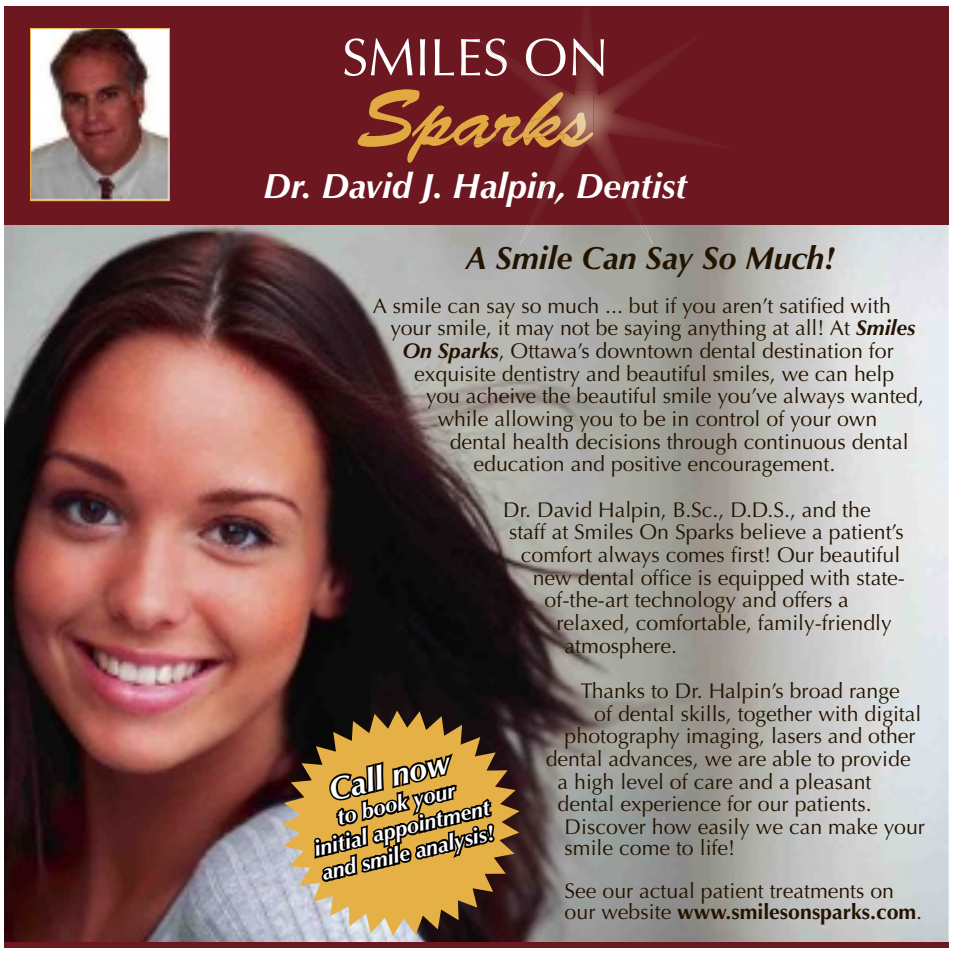

“We’re getting better at it,” he said of the collective effort he and his show display. “I got better at it, smarter at it, tougher.”

Walsh said there will be a couple more episodes to do for the network.

Meanwhile, he’ll be talking to Twentieth Television, the network’s studio arm, about possible new outlets for the show.

“I think this show could go into syndication bigtime,” he said. “And I’ll do those specials, because I love the network. Who else would give the father of a murdered child a chance to host a revolutionary reality show?”

Shriver could write a memoir

Her husband may have cheated, but Maria's story could sell Why not pen a book like other political wives?

DOROTHY ROBINSON
METRO WORLD NEWS
METRO WORLD NEWS IN NEW YORK

While Maria Shriver continues to deal with the fallout of husband Arnold Schwarzenegger's admission of fathering a child with a long-time staffer, it's important for her to remember that all is not lost: She can always write a memoir! In fact, she'll join an esteemed "wronged political wife" collection of authors. Here, other political wives share what they felt like when they were in the same situation, via excerpts from their books.

Title: Silent Partner: A Memoir of My Marriage

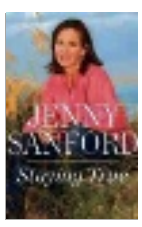

The husband's indiscretion: Ex-husband New Jersey Gov. Jim McGreevey admitted to being a "gay American" as he left office in 2004.
Helpful excerpt: "When love goes out the door, courtship stories may go into the attic, never to be told again. It's no fun to recount the birth of a love that died a horrible death. My sadness and yes, my anger, cast long shadows and obscure much that was hopeful and happy."

Who: Elizabeth Edwards
Title: Resilience: Reflections on the Burdens and Gifts of Facing Life's Adversities

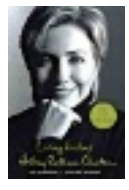

The husband's indiscretion: Wife of former U.S. Senator John Edwards was outed by the National Enquirer for having an affair with freelance videographer Rielle Hunter in 2007; in 2010, he admitted to fathering a child with her.
Helpful excerpt: "I felt that the ground underneath me had been pulled away. I wanted him to drop out of the race, protect our family from this woman, from his act."

Who: Jenny Sanford
Title: Staying True

The husband's indiscretion: South Carolina's first lady Jenny Sanford was thrust into the national spotlight in June 2009 when her husband, Gov. Mark Sanford, admitted to travelling to Argentina to visit his lover — a.k.a "hiking the Appalachian Trail."

What does Lady Gaga's handwriting say about her? Metro finds out

CARLY BALDWIN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Samples of Lady Gaga's handwriting

The estimable Lady Gaga served as Metro's guest editor on Tuesday and we got her to answer some of our questions in her own handwriting.

Which, of course, raises the question: What does Lady Gaga's penmanship say about her?

Metro consulted Dennis Duez, a Pittsburgh-based handwriting analyst who has scrutinized the writings of Britney Spears (she's very obstinate) and former New York Gov. Eliot Spitzer (he needs romance, but does not trust it). After taking a look at Gaga handwriting samples, Duez deduced:

• Lady Gaga is a strongly independent, and a my-way-or-the-highway person, as evidenced by her straight up and sometimes slanted slightly to the left lettering.

She believes that her way is the right way, said Duez. Critics beware!

• Gaga does not like to be misunderstood, as evidenced by copious amounts of printed text and is a strong communicator. See open tops on lower case "O," "A," and "D" characters.

• Her handwriting evidences a strong performance talent, indicated by the broad "T" bar crossings.

• Honesty is critical for Gaga; when someone lies to her they are gone, gone, gone, said Duez. See the constant use of uppercase, cobra strike "S" through out her writing.

• Apparently, there is an old relationship that has not quite faded from Gaga's memory, theorizes Duez. It may still return, unbidden, in dreams, he said. See the beginning arc in the ending "y" in "humanity."

•And, our personal favourite: There is evidence of a strong impact to Gaga's left leg/knee/shin area. This shows up on the dent on the "g" at the end of "unassuming" and in several other "y" characters in her handwriting sample.

Maria Shriver has reportedly hired top celebrity divorce lawyer Laura Wasser, whose past clients have included Angelina Jolie, Christina Aguilera and Britney Spears, according to People magazine.

But that doesn't necessarily mean that her marriage to former California governor Arnold Schwarzenegger is all but done.

"Maria hasn't decided yet if she wants to end her marriage," a source says, adding that Shriver hired Wasser before news of Schwarzenegger's affair and child with a former housekeeper got out.

David and Victoria Beckham have reportedly set the date to welcome their first daughter, planning the birth for July 4 in a private hospital in Los Angeles, according to the Sun.

The Beckhams, who already have three sons, were reportedly planning to welcome the girl at London's Portland Hospital.

"While the date hasn't changed, it was decided a Los Angeles clinic would be best for the immediate family," a source says.

"Victoria and David love America, its culture and her people, who have welcomed them with open arms. Match made in grill heaven

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

I'm a bit of a barbecue weenie. At my house, boy meets grill until mid-fall. Then I wheel my gas-fired girl into the garage until Victoria Day.

She's ready to make her 2011 debut this long weekend, and when it comes to picking a wine to match grilled meats, I look for juice that can hold its own against the intensity of the meat and influence of the marinade.

Think young, jammy and red. It's not time to uncork that Bordeaux you've had since midway through the last century. Best bets are Californian zinfandel and merlot, Aussie shiraz, Chilean cabernet sauvignon, and for a taste of the Old World, a Barbera d'Asti from Italy's Piedmont region.

In Argentina, barbecue is a way of life and a red like Trapiche's 2010 Varietals Malbec ($9.00 - $11.99) — with dark, blueberry flavour, balanced tannins and spice trail — is a grill match made in Mendoza. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. Kick off backyard barbecue season

This juicy Chipotle Barbecue Cheeseburger has condiments built right in Not only is it Victoria Day Weekend, it's National Hamburger Month

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS/ MATTHEW MEAD

▶ To increase the heat in this recipe, add a jalapeno to the processor at the same time as the chipotles.

No condiments are needed for this high-flavour barbecue-style cheeseburger; they are built right in.

For ease — and awesome taste — I took your basic beef burger and mixed in puréed chipotles in adobo sauce, a healthy splash of barbecue sauce and some garlic. I also stuffed the burger with a mix of cheddar cheese and chopped black olives. Finally, I mixed a bell pepper slaw to form a creamy-crispy bed for the burger.

Ingredients:

- 50 ml (1/4 cup) mayonnaise
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) mustard powder
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) honey
- 5 ml (1 tsp) cider vinegar
- 1 red bell pepper, cored and thinly sliced
- 1 green bell pepper, cored and thinly sliced
- 1 yellow bell pepper, cored and thinly sliced
- Salt and black pepper
- 2 chipotle peppers in adobo sauce
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) prepared barbecue sauce
- 2 cloves garlic
- 500 g (1 lb) 85 per cent lean ground beef
- 250 ml (1 cup) shredded cheddar cheese
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) finely chopped black olives
- 4 large potato buns, toasted
- 1 large tomato, thickly sliced

Preparation:

1. In bowl, whisk mayo, mustard powder, honey and vinegar. Add all 3 peppers, toss to coat. Season with salt and pepper, then set aside.
2. Heat a grill or grill pan to medium-high.
3. In food processor, combine chipotle peppers, barbecue sauce and garlic. Puree until smooth. Transfer to bowl. Add ground beef, 2 ml (1/2 tsp) salt and 1 ml (1/4 tsp) black pepper, mix.
4. Divide ground beef mixture into quarters. One at a time, form each quarter into a cup in the palm of your hand. Add 50 ml (1/4 cup) of cheese and sprinkling of black olives to centre of each cup, then push beef over it to completely cover cheese. Form beef into patty.
5. Coat grill grates with oil. Grill burgers for 8 minutes for medium-well or until desired doneness.
6. Top bottom half of each bun with some pepper slaw, then a burger, then a slice of tomato.

This recipe uses roasted red peppers, available in jars in some deli sections of supermarkets or you can grill your own.

If desired, top cooked mushroom caps with 15 ml (1 tbsp) chevre (soft goat cheese) and return it to the grill to warm cheese before placing on the bun.

Preparation:

1. Place mushrooms in a resealable plastic bag. In a bowl, mix wine, garlic oil, thyme, rosemary, salt and pepper. Pour over mushrooms and seal bag.
2. Marinate at room temperature for 2 hours, turning occasionally.
3. Remove mushrooms from marinade and broil or cook on hot barbecue for 3 to 5 minutes on each side or until warmed and softened.
4. Halve buns and toast or warm on grill; spread cut side of buns with mustard; place lettuce on bottom half, top with mushrooms, roasted red pepper halves and top half of bun. THE CANADIAN PRESS/ MUSHROOMS.CA

Keeping cool part of Canucks' plan

Team seeks to keep eyes on the prize and avoid any meltdowns

Watching the San Jose Sharks melt down in Game 2 of the NHL Western Conference final brought back some old memories for the Vancouver Canucks.

Been there. Done that. Don't want to do it again.

The Canucks refused to be drawn into retaliation penalties and didn't let the Sharks' rough-house tactics distract them in a 7-3 victory. The Canucks scored four third-period goals, two of them on power plays.

"You learn from your experiences," goaltender Roberto Luongo said Thursday as the Canucks boarded an airplane to San Jose.

"We have been on that side of the story before and it hasn't worked out that well for us. You learn from the past. We want to keep our eyes on the prize. If that includes taking a punch in the face, why not?"

Vancouver takes a 2-0 lead into Game 3 Friday night at the HP Pavilion. Game 4 in the best-of-seven series is Sunday afternoon.

The Canucks have dominated the Sharks for most of the first two games. Vancouver has played physical, didn't get rattled when the Sharks scored first, and took advantage of San Jose mistakes.

Raffi Torres said it hasn't been as easy as it looks. And it won't get any easier at the Shark Tank.

Samuelsson out

Mikael Samuelsson will be out of the Vancouver Canucks lineup indefinitely after undergoing successful surgery Thursday to repair his adductor tendon and sports hernia.

"Going to San Jose, it's a tough place to play," said Torres, his face showing the cuts and bruises of a long playoff run. "It's a loud building.

"I'm sure the last thing they are going to do is let us come in there and do what we do. They will be ready to go."

It wasn't too long ago the Canucks' composure and mental toughness was as fragile as fine china.

A cheap shot, like when San Jose's Ben Eager drove Daniel Sedin head-first into the boards Wednesday night, might have blown Vancouver's cool. They would have started yapping at the officials and taken bad penalties.

"We learned our lessons the hard way," said defenceman Kevin Bieksa. "At the time it really cost us.

"We talked about it a lot before the playoffs. We have been very good all season being disciplined and even-keeled, staying away from stuff after the whistle." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sports in brief

The NHL and True North Sports and Entertainment are disputing a report that a deal to bring the Atlanta Thrashers to Winnipeg is done. Citing sources, the Globe and Mail reported Thursday evening that the announcement confirming the sale will be made Tuesday in Winnipeg.

"It's not true," True North spokesman Scott Brown said when asked about the report that a deal was done.

True North Sports and Entertainment owns and operates the Manitoba Moose of the American Hockey League and the MTS Centre arena, which would become the NHL team's new home.

Blackhawks reach deal with Crawford

The Chicago Blackhawks and Corey Crawford agreed Thursday on a three-year contract after a standout rookie season in which he emerged as their top goalie.

Financial terms were not disclosed.

General manager Stan Bowman said signing Crawford was the top priority for a team that lost Antti Niemi a year ago after he led the Blackhawks to the Stanley Cup. They signed veteran Marty Turco to a one-year deal last off-season, but it was the 26-year-old Crawford who ultimately established himself as their top goalie.

He went 33-18-6 and led rookie goalies in wins while tying for the lead with four shutouts.

Send a KISS

You can now post your kiss, and read even more kisses, online at metronews.ca/kiss.

M'Lady,
You're the first thing i think of when i wake up and the last thing before i go to sleep. The best parts of my day are when i spend them with you. I love making you smile, its beatiful just like you. I can't wait to make more memories with you.
XOX YOUR EXCELLENCY

Johnny Hopkins
John, i still love you :(D

D,
Why do you continue to play with my feelings? I think you have a girlfriend, so why lead me on at the office when you suspect that my feelings for you are stronger. I don't want to be the object of your attention at work when outside of work someone else holds that place. I have a heart too, and it is breakable...

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

Aries March 21-April 20 A feud that has lingered too long will erupt. You must finally deal with it.

Taurus April 21-May 21 Do you work with someone who shares your ambitions even if you disagree on details, or do you let those details ruin things?

Gemini May 22-June 21 You don't lack energy, but are you channeling it in the right direction?

Cancer June 22-July 22 Be ruthless with yourself. Cut out of your life everything that does not take you closer to your No. 1 goal.

Leo July 23-Aug.23 You mean well but sometimes you try to force others to do what you think is best.

Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 You seem to believe that you can get away with anything at the moment. Don't get carried away.

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 You need to make more of your talents — and you need to make sure you get paid what you are worth.

Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Something for which you once had high hopes longer excites you. There's no shame in moving on.

Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 It's time to get serious about something that in the past you thought of as a bit of a game.

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 . Make sure others know who is in charge: you. Crack the whip.

Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Some people have doubts that you have what it takes to succeed. Show your competitive side.

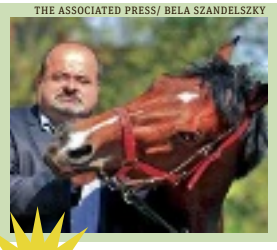

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. You don't have to ask permission if you want to get away for a few hours. Nature heals. SALLY BROMPTON
